I encourage and support the many citizens and organizations in the Carrollton-Audubon area and their sincere effort to work with the City Planning Commission to create a Renaissance Planning Process. Their task, which includes developing a Renaissance Plan and Master Plan for neighborhoods in the area, is an exciting project.

I look forward to working with these groups and taking part in developing this Plan, which includes a comprehensive citizen outreach process. This plan will be an important tool for the future of these neighborhoods because of the broad commitment to citizen participation. The Plan will serve as a model for other New Orleans neighborhoods.

The Renaissance Planning Process has been a successful model for neighborhood planning in New Orleans. My office stands ready to help in the planning process and implementation of future strategies for the Carrollton-Audubon Renaissance Planning process. Please keep me and my staff informed about future meetings and events.

Sincerely,
